

Tom Flattery
Deputy District Attorney
Santa Clara County

Tom Flattery is a Santa Clara County Deputy District Attorney assigned to the High Tech Unit. He has been with the District Attorney's Office for 18 years and has been prosecuting High Tech cases since 2005. He is also a Co-Chair of the California District Attorneys' Association (CDAA) High Tech Committee. Tom has prosecuted hundreds of ID theft cases involving both large organized rings and smaller single-victim cases. He also recently advised CDAA on legislation involving electronic privacy. Tom attended the University of San Diego School of Law and Penn State University.