

Stephen Yelderman
Associate Professor
Notre Dame Law School

Stephen Yelderman is an Associate Professor at Notre Dame Law School, where he teaches courses in Patent and Copyright law. His research examines ways that intellectual property rights can protect, impair, and stimulate competition, with a particular focus on the relationship between patent quality and consumer harm. Prior to joining Notre Dame, he served as a Trial Attorney in the Department of Justice Antitrust Division, and worked as a Patent Agent in Silicon Valley. He holds Master's and Bachelor's degrees in Electrical Engineering from Stanford University, and attended the University of Chicago Law School.
