

David H. Kramer
Partner, Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati

David Kramer is a partner at Wilson Sonsini Goodrich & Rosati, where he specializes in Internet and copyright litigation. David regularly provides clients with guidance on cutting-edge strategies and novel theories of liability. He currently represents Google, Dropbox, Square, and Twitter, among many other clients. In addition to his client work, David is a member of WSGR's board of directors.

David has successfully litigated DMCA cases on behalf of service providers throughout his career, including Field v. Google, Rosen v. GoDaddy, Blues Destiny v. Google, Universal Music v. DivX, and Parker v. Google, and is counsel for YouTube in its long-running litigation against Viacom. David was also counsel to RealNetworks in the first-ever case brought under the DMCA's anti-circumvention provisions, RealNetworks v. Streambox, and secured a preliminary injunction halting the defendant's conduct.