Tentative List of Participants

Enrique Armijo, Elon University School of Law
Twitter, Smart Mobs, and the Freedom to Speak and Associate

Ida Madieha Azmi, International Islamic University Malaysia
Malaysia's Preparedness towards Information Security in its Critical National Information Infrastructure

Derek Bambauer, University of Arizona James E. Rogers College of Law
Ghost in the Network

Jane Bambauer, University of Arizona James E. Rogers College of Law
Is Data Speech?

Marc Jonathan Blitz, Oklahoma City University School of Law
School, Work, Speech, and CyberKant

Scott Boone, John Marshall Law School

Nicholas Bramble
Google

Valentina Bratu, Public Participation Project

Annemarie Bridy, University of Idaho College of Law
Of Kingpins and Pirates: Seizure as a Weapon in the War on Drugs and the War on Piracy

Adam Candeub, Michigan State University College of Law
Search Engines: Antitrust Law in the Feedback Economy

Eoin Carolan, University College Dublin
Survey of Technology and People's Attitudes to Privacy

Anupam Chander & Uyen P. Le, University of California at Davis, School of Law
The Free Speech Foundations Of Silicon Valley

Anjali S. Dalal, Resident Fellow at Information Society Project at Yale Law School
Administrative Constitutionalism and the Growth of the Surveillance State

Ed Felten, Princeton University

David Friedman, Santa Clara University, School of Law

Chloé S. Georas, University of Puerto Rico School of Law
Automated Coloniality Of Power: How Predictive Technologies Entrench The Preemptive Othering Of "Bad Communities"

Aaron E. Ghirardelli, adjunct at Thomas Jefferson School of Law
A Proposal for the Reform of the Hague Convention on the Service Abroad: Internet as a Way to Increase Efficiency in Civil Proceedings Worldwide

Andrew Gilden, Stanford Law School

Jennifer Stisa Granick, Stanford Center for Internet and Society
Principles for Regulation of Government Surveillance in the Age of Big Data

Woodrow Hartzog, Cumberland School of Law, Samford University
Social Data

Arash Izadi, Xiamen University

Seny Kamara, Microsoft Research
Crypto-Enabled Clouds and Their Impact on Privacy and Policy

Mark Lemley, Stanford Law School
Software Patents and the Return of Functional Claiming

John Tehranian, Southwestern Law
It'll Break Your Heart Every Time: Baseball, the Internet and Romanticism

Raizel Liebler, John Marshall Law School
Out of the Public Eye?: The Interaction Between Public and Private Persona and its Implications for the Interaction between Employees and Social Media Policies

Tim Lordan, Advisory Committee to the Congressional Internet Caucus

Lydia Pallas Loren, Lewis & Clark Law School
Alternative publication models for educational materials, open licensing and the OER movement

Claudio S. de Lucena Neto, Paraiba State University

Geoffrey Manne, Executive Director, International Center for Law and Economics

Andrea M. Matwyshyn, Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania
Bankrupting Privacy

Stephen McJohn, Suffolk University Law School

Ira Steven Nathenson, St. Thomas University School of Law
Super-Intermediaries, Code, Human Rights

Tyler Ochoa, Santa Clara University School of Law

Jonathon Penney, Berkman Center for Internet & Society, Harvard University
The Ghosts of Info-Wars Past: Lessons for the International Law and Politics of Internet
Censorship Resistance Today

Michael L. Rich, Elon University School of Law
Flipping the Murder Switch: Limits on the Perfect Preventive State

Chris K. Ridder, Ridder, Costa & Johnstone LLP
Uncertainty in IP Address-based Identification: protecting the innocent internet service subscriber

Carlos Andres Rubio Luna, JSD candidate at the University of Illinois College of Law
'Blackstonian Copyrifhts' and other -Flawed- Claims about the Early History of Copyrights

Daniel Seng, J.S.D. Candidate, Stanford Law School

Nicolas Suzor, Queensland University of Technology School of Law
Collective Action Models in Open Access Publishing

Peter P. Swire, The Ohio State University School of Law

Berin Szoka, TechFreedom

Joseph A. Tomain, Florida Coastal School of Law
Commercial Speech Doctrine in the Digital Age

Rebecca Tushnet, Georgetown Law School

Nicole van der Meulen, Faculty of Law, VU University Amsterdam
Beating the Bots: How to Legally Conquer the Digital Swiss Army Knife

Lucian Vasiu, Faculty of Law, Dimitrie Cantemir University
An Analysis of Computer Crime Cases brought before U.S. Federal Courts

Fred von Lohmann, Google Inc.

Yana Welinder, VAP at California Western School of Law
Facing Real-Time Identification Applications

Felix Wu, Cardozo School of Law
The Ontology of Speech

Peter Yu, Drake Law School