Mike Schroeder
Chief People Officer
Wave Computing

As Wave Computing's Chief People Officer, Mike Schroeder is focused on creating an inclusive compelling employee experience that enables Wave employees to apply their skills, innovate, and develop in ways that help accelerate overall business success.

Prior to joining Wave, Schroeder held several VP and senior management roles at a wide range of technology companies, including View, Rambus, Synopsys, and Apple Computing, focused on conceptualizing and deploying people strategies that drove professional development, organizational alignment and company differentiation. Schroeder is an active participant in the Business Ethics Partnership group at Santa Clara University and previously served as a board member for the American Cancer Society.